

Make Your Own "One Canada" Bookmark

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker wanted the country of Canada to be united, where all everyone would would work and live in harmony while celebrating their diversity. He wished for all Canadians to have equal rights no matter what race, ethnicity, culture, gender, or region they were from. He called this vision "One Canada". What's your vision for One Canada?

As a child, John Diefenbaker loved to read history and adventure books. His love of reading continued into adulthood, with hundreds of books in his personal collection. Use the template below to create your own bookmark! Cut along the bolded line and fold along the dotted line. Use a gluestick or tape to fasten the two side together. On the front, use the blank space to draw your own vision for "One Canada."

MY "ONE CANADA"

To John Diefenbaker, One Canada, meant that Canadians would be united across the country no matter their race, culture, gender, or region. He wished for everyone to have equal rights, have a voice, and have access to the same resources.

What do you wish for Canada?
